

Mark Nayman - Sun Palace Review

Mark Nayman, President Resort Consultants
September 9th, 2008

Mark Nayman reports when The Sun Palace timeshare resort reopened in December 2006, it did so with a new concept in all-inclusive resorts in Cancun: Couples only. Original to the area, Sun Palace is the first to offer a property geared only to couples. Located in the southern end of Cancun, it is undergoing through a renovation that will conclude with a property featuring more guestrooms, including presidential suites, all featuring double Jacuzzi and beautifully appointed with new furniture. Couples will rejoice in the new spa facility with hydrotherapy area. Expert personnel, with the aid of brand name products and a mix of old and new techniques, will provide the best service from a comprehensive menu of treatments. Two interconnected pools will offer a refreshing dip. Specialty restaurants will satisfy the most demanding palates with a variety of international cuisines. While not enjoying the outdoors, you clients can browse around at the boutique for that special souvenir or enjoy the renewed gym so they won't miss their regular workout.

Now a couples-only timeshare resort this is a beautiful, modern, smaller resort with great service. There was a well stocked mini-fridge with various beverages and a liquor dispenser that included tequila, whiskey, rum, and vodka. The hotel sized room was large...including a small table with wine and fruit and there was a safe in the closet.

There were 4 restaurants (no reservations needed). El Alamo - gourmet Mexican at night, The Steak - open at night only and outside - grilled meats and a buffet, an Italian - the only restaurant where men need to wear long pants, and a Thai outdoor restaurant. There was only one restaurant for breakfast (El Alamo) with many varied choices. The food in general was very good.

Mark Nayman states, the beach at the SUN PALACE is very nice... unlike a lot of other places in Cancun after the last big hurricane. Also, if you stay at one Palace resort, you can go visit all the others, use their facilities, etc. Transportation is provided from other palace resorts 2 times a day to the Moon palace. The pool is huge.

There was entertainment every night at the SUN PALACE. At 9 pm there was some kind of a show. Other nights Mexican dance, Caribbean dance, Karaoke, Casino night, and the last night Circus night. There was a live band in the lobby bar on some nights.

The SUN PALACE is a beautiful resort and the service could not have been better. The all-inclusive hotel is nice. There is a city bus stop very close to the SUN PALACE entrance, so it is very convenient to hop a ride.
